

Los Angeles Times

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1998

COPYRIGHT 1998/THE TIMES MIRROR COMPANY/CC/100 PAGES

Freeze Hits State Citrus Crop Hard

By DAVAN MAHARAJ
TIMES STAFF WRITER

California farmers, who on Tuesday sustained their worst frost damage in years, were bracing for another round of freezing temperatures that could destroy a significant portion of the lemon and orange crops.

Colder weather is forecast today through Thursday, with temperatures expected to drop into the low 20s in some farming communities. Meteorologists said a jet stream is carrying frigid air into California from Alaska and western Canada.

Please see FREEZE, A29

Wintry Greeting

ROBERT DURELL / Los Angeles Times

Icicles hang from wreath placed around the neck of a bear statue in Berkeley's Arlington Fountain.

Temperatures dropped as the season's first cold wave rolled across the nation. A31

U.S. Plant to Begin Treating Tijuana Sewage

By KEN ELLINGWOOD